To whom it should concern:

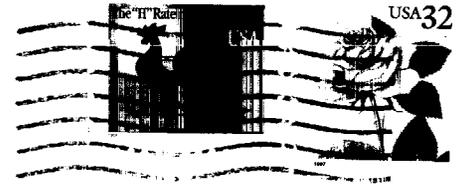

I have been a gymnast, Physical Education instructor, Assayer chemist & spectrographic analyst, Aircraft production engineer, Vocalist actor & entertainer, banker, Coop director, farmer. With this background of broad varied experience I am convinced that a simple statement saying - "This food has been irradiated", should be included on the label.

It seems that cause and effect creeps into all of our daily lifes activity from education to profession, from birth to death, from economy to morality, and on infinitum. Yet it seems that as a group called man we are either unwilling or unable to confront the cause and modify to correct it but expend our effort on treating the effect which often not only fails, but creates many more sequences of cause & effect. Individuals should be given the facts about the substances that can be either life giving or life threatening.
